Passage – I

The Alaska pipeline starts at the frozen edge of the Arctic Ocean. It stretches southward across the largest and northernmost state in the United States, ending at a remote ice-free seaport village nearly 800 miles from where it begins. It is massive in size and extremely complicated to operate. The steel pipe crosses windswept plains and endless miles of delicate tundra that tops the frozen ground. It weaves through crooked canyons, climbs sheer mountains, plunges over rocky crags, makes its way through thick forests, and passes over or under hundreds of rivers and streams. The pipe is 4 feet in diameter, and up to 2 million barrels (or 84 million gallons) of crude oil can be pumped through it daily. Resting on H-shaped steel racks called "bents" long sections of the pipeline follow a zigzag course high above the frozen earth. Other long sections drop out of sight beneath spongy or rocky ground and return to the surface later on. The pattern of the pipeline's up-and-down route is determined by the often harsh demands of the arctic and sub-arctic climate, the tortuous lay of the land, and the varied compositions of soil, rock, or permafrost. A little more than half of the pipeline is elevated above the ground. The remainder is buried anywhere from 3 to 12 feet, depending largely upon the type of terrain and the properties of the soil. One of the largest in the world, the pipeline cost approximately $8 billion and is by far the biggest and most expensive construction project ever undertaken by private industry. In fact, no single business could raise that much money, so 8 major oil companies formed a consortium in order to share the costs. Each company controlled oil rights to particular shares of land in the oil fields and paid into the pipeline-construction fund according to the size of its holdings. Today, despite enormous problems of climate, supply shortages, equipment breakdowns, labor disagreements, treacherous terrain, a certain amount of mismanagement, and even theft, the Alaska pipeline has been completed and is operating.

- 11) What does this passage primarily discuss about ?
- 12) What volume of oil can travel through the pipeline each day ? Write your answers in both barrels and gallons.
- 13) What does the phrase "Resting on" refer to ?
- 14) According to the author what are the important factors in determining the pipeline's route ?
- 15) How many companies shared the costs of constructing the pipeline and what determined the percentage of the construction costs each member of the consortium would pay ?
- 16) What is the term which the author uses for referring to earth covering that always remains frozen ?

Passage - II

Let me not to the marriage of true minds
Admit impediments. Love is not love
Which alters when it alteration finds,
Or bends with the remover to remove :
O, no ! it is an ever-fixed mark,
That looks on tempests and is never shaken;
It is the star to every wandering bark,
Whose worth's unknown, although his height be taken.
Love's not time's fool, though rosy lips and cheeks
Within his bending sickle's compass come;
Love alters not with his brief hours and weeks,
But bears it out even to the edge of doom.
If this be error and upon me proved,
I never writ, nor no man ever loved.

- 17) What kind of love, according to the poet is not true love ?
- 18) How does the poet compare true love to a star ?
- 19) Why does the poet say that love is not, 'time's fool' ?
- 20) Why does the poet say that marriage of true minds admits no impediments ?
- 21) Explain the line, "bears it out even to the edge of doom".
- 22) What does, "rosy lips and cheeks" stand for ?

(8×2=16 Marks)

III. Answer any six of the following questions in a maximum of 100 words each.

- 23) How does effective reading help us ?
- 24) Explain eye fixation.
- 25) Mention some tips for reading newspapers and magazine articles.
- 26) What are the ways to identify the central idea of a passage ?
- 27) What do you mean by discourse features and how can you figure out the discourse features of a passage ?
- 28) Explain intensive reading.

29) Attempt a critical appreciation of the following poem :

(TO JS/07 M378 This Marble Monument Is Erected by the State)

He was found by the Bureau of Statistics to be
 One against whom there was no official complaint,
 And all the reports on his conduct agree
 That, in the modern sense of an old-fashioned word, he was a saint,
 For in everything he did he served the Greater Community..
 Except for the War till the day he retired
 He worked in a factory and never got fired,
 But satisfied his employers, Fudge Motors Inc.
 Yet he wasn't a scab or odd in his views,
 For his Union reports that he paid his dues,
 (Our report on his Union shows it was sound)
 And our Social Psychology workers found
 That he was popular with his mates and liked a drink.
 The Press are convinced that he bought a paper every day
 And that his reactions to advertisements were normal in every way.
 Policies taken out in his name prove that he was fully insured,
 And his Health-card shows he was once in a hospital but left it cured.
 Both Producers Research and High-Grade Living declare
 He was fully sensible to the advantages of the Instalment Plan
 And had everything necessary to the Modern Man,
 A phonograph, a radio, a car and a frigidaire.
 Our researchers into Public Opinion are content
 That he held the proper opinions for the time of year,
 When there was peace, he was for peace : when there was war, he went.
 He was married and added five children to the population,
 Which our Eugenist says was the right number for a parent of his generation.
 And our teachers report that he never interfered with their education.
 Was he free ? Was he happy ? The question is absurd :
 Had anything been wrong, we should certainly have heard.

Our present cities are growing every year... This growth will almost certainly continue and the cities of the future will be much bigger and far more complicated than those of today. Many problems will arise which will have to be solved. The solutions will undoubtedly change the face of the city and the life of the inhabitants... It is quite possible that the future city will have no traffic at all. H.G. Wells in his book The Sleep Awakes, tells of a man who slept for hundreds of years, and awoke to a very different world from that which he knew before. In the streets of that future London there were no animals, carriages, motor-cars, or tramcars. The city was provided with moving roads, and therefore no longer needed the vehicles to which we are accustomed. One side of the road travelled in one direction; the other side moved the opposite way. Anyone who wanted to go to another part of the city stepped on the moving 'way' and sat on one of the seats until he arrived. He did not need to wait for a tramcar or a bus... The moving way was always at his service, always moving silently along, always ready to take him to his destination. That city of the future had no traffic problems. (217 words).

35) Arrange the given sentences in the proper order :

(First and last sentences are in the correct order. The rest of the sentences have to be rearranged so as to give logical sense to the whole passage].
Manners are patterns of behaviour. We have to exercise self-control in order to learn good manners. People respect those who know how to behave well in society. A man of good manners is often considered to be a man of good character with the help of good manners a person can establish lasting friendship with others. A person who is polite, sweet-tempered, and soft-spoken is liked by everybody. By observing small curtsies and acts of politeness, we can encourage others as well as ourselves to be kind in all our dealings.
